Youth Encounter on Sustainable Development

We are happy to invite you to a youth encounter on sustainable development!

What? Local in Global – Welcome to Krapowa is a week-long international youth encounter that deals with the topic of sustainable development and involves the simulation game „Krapowa“. Participants will get to know the concept of sustainable development and develop strategies on how to act on a local level.

Besides acquiring new knowledge, an important part of this project consists of meeting and interacting with new peers from four European countries.

How? In the simulation game “Krapowa”, the participants will be led into the scenario of a small post-industrial town where they themselves take over different roles of the local civil society. From different viewpoints, they will come up with their own solutions for common real-life problems and try them out together in a safe space.

We will actively involve the participants and engage our brains, hearts and bodies. Besides the simulation game, our methods include teambuilding, discussions, reflections, theatre education, cooperation games, best-practice examples and others.

Aim? The goal of Local in Global is to empower participants to effectively shape their individual living environments in a sustainable way. More specifically, the participants shall:

- ✓ acquire a deeper understanding of sustainable development
- ✓ develop own ideas for sustainable development in a safe learning environment
